

THE PALWORLD CONSTITUTION

A Compact Governing the Rights and Duties of Trainers, Settlers, and Pals

RATIFIED BY THE FOUNDING TRAINERS OF THE PALPAGOS ISLANDS

"Loot is free. Saturdays are sacred."

PREAMBLE

We, the survivors, trainers, and settlers of the islands of Palpagos, in order to establish tolerable order, provide for mutual defense, promote the general fun, and secure the blessings of loot to ourselves and our Pals, do ordain and establish this Constitution.

ARTICLE I — GENERAL PRINCIPLES

Section 1.

All persons on the server (hereafter "Trainers") are equal under this Constitution, regardless of starting spawn point, base location, or number of Anubis they own.

Section 2.

Pals are recognized as property, labor, and companions. They may be worked, ranched, or thrown into volcanoes for crafting purposes, in accordance with existing server norms, subject to the theft provisions below.

ARTICLE II — THE RIGHT OF LOOT

Section 1. Loot Is Always Free Game.

Any item found in a chest, dropped by a defeated Pal or boss, harvested from the wild, or left unattended in a base is subject to claim by any Trainer at any time, on any day of the week. No permission is required. No cooldown applies.

Section 2. No Loot Grudges.

A Trainer who has their loot taken may express displeasure verbally but may not retaliate through grieving, base destruction, or Alpha Pal summoning outside the terms of this Constitution.

Section 3. Finders Keepers.

If it's not nailed down, walled off, or actively in someone's hands, it's fair game — 24/7/365.

ARTICLE III — THE SATURDAY CLAUSE

(Right of Pal Requisition)

Section 1. Establishment.

Every Saturday, from 00:00 to 23:59 server time, shall be known as Requisition Day, during which the taking of another Trainer's Pals — from pens, pastures, or unattended party slots — is constitutionally protected activity.

Section 2. Scope of the Right.

On Requisition Day, any Trainer may:

- Enter another Trainer's base and remove Pals from open pastures or ranches.
- Capture, cage, or relocate Pals not actively held in an active party slot of a logged-in Trainer.
- Claim rare or Alpha-lineage Pals discovered unguarded.

Section 3. Limits on the Right.

Even on Saturday, the following remain prohibited:

- Killing a Pal to prevent its owner from reclaiming it ("scorched earth" tactics).
- Taking a Pal directly from a Trainer's active combat party while they are online and engaged.
- Destroying base structures (walls, pens, feed boxes) to gain access — theft must occur through unlocked or breach-free means.

Section 4. Sunset Provision.

At 00:00 Sunday, the Right of Requisition lapses immediately. Any Pal-stealing after this hour is subject to Article IV enforcement as ordinary theft.

Section 5. No Backsies.

A Pal legally requisitioned on Saturday may not be reclaimed by force on a subsequent day. Possession at midnight Saturday is nine-tenths of the law.

ARTICLE IV — PROHIBITED CONDUCT (ALL OTHER DAYS)

Section 1.

Outside of Requisition Day, the removal of another Trainer's Pals from their base, pasture, or party is considered theft and is not protected by this Constitution.

Section 2.

Loot-taking remains exempt from this prohibition at all times per Article II.

Section 3. Penalties.

A Trainer found in violation of Section 1 may be subject to:

- Public listing on the Wall of Shame (a designated base signboard or Discord channel).
- A ban from participating in the next Requisition Day.
- Community-voted restitution (return of an equivalent Pal or item).

ARTICLE V — DISPUTE RESOLUTION

Section 1.

Disputes arising from Requisition Day activity shall first be settled by direct negotiation between parties.

Section 2.

Trial by Arena Combat (Pal vs. Pal, non-lethal settings) is recognized as a legitimate alternative dispute mechanism if both parties consent.

ARTICLE VI — AMENDMENTS

This Constitution may be amended by a two-thirds vote of active server Trainers, provided the amendment is proposed at least 48 hours in advance and does not retroactively punish good-faith Requisition Day conduct.

ARTICLE VII — RATIFICATION

This Constitution takes effect immediately upon posting in the server's designated announcement channel and binds all Trainers who continue to play thereafter, whether or not they explicitly agree — ignorance of the Constitution is no defense against a well-executed Saturday raid.

Signed in the spirit of chaos, capitalism, and communal Pal ranching,
